TYPHUS IS IN JUAREZ

Discovery of Epidemic Has Caused Panic in El Paso As Many Americans Have Visited the Federal Hospitals Seeking Sovereigns.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chihuahua, May 10.—(Via El Paso, May 12.)—Two thousand insurgents are reported today marching on toward Chihuahua. Already the advance guards are camped around the city.

An armed mob today entered the Nombro De Dios, a suburb, looted the stores and took all the horses, despite the presence of fifteen hundred Federals and escaped.

The whole district, embracing Durango, Torreon and the intermediate towns in the state are approaching anarchy.

To conceal their movements the insurgents destroyed all of the telegraph and railroad lines.
Indeed, south of Rosario, was sacked and taken after twenty people had been killed.

Chihuahua city is in a poor way to withstand prolonged isolation as no reserve supply of provisions was taken in before the railroad was closed.

In the territory south of Torreon,
the towns were invaded, stores looted,
and the Jefe Policia killed off with something like monotonous regularity, while in many places the Federal troops stood by utterly helpless.

Liberal Ruling.
Washington, May 12.—After the cabinet meeting today, Colonel Steever, in El Paso, Texas, was instructed by the Secretary of War to permit all regular shipments passing through the customs house in El Paso, Texas. This means the military will not interfere with any supplies cleared by the customs house, whether they be arms, ammunition or food.

All Quiet.
Mexico City, May 12.—Despite rumors of student uprising and a possible attack on the city by the rebels, which gave the third residents uneasiness
last night, nothing out of the ordinary had occurred in the capital this morning.

Talk War.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

El Paso, May 12.—Although Madero and his newly organized provisional cabinet held a conference today, no plans of the insurgent leader were made known. It was generally believed that the proposed capture of Mexico City was the chief topic of discussion. Peace plans were not considered.

Court of Honor.
Mexico City, May 12.—A court of honor will investigate the surrender of Ciudad Juarez by Federal Commander Navarro, and may court marshal him for turning over his sword to an enemy.

Typhus Discovered.
El Paso, May 12.—Typhus in a violent form has broken out in the Federal hospital at Juarez. One man has died and five others have been found who have been ill for more than a week. The discovery has created a veritable panic here, for hundreds of Americans have carried away clothing of Juarez soldiers for souvenirs.

COLLISION RESULTS IN SHIP'S SINKING

Ward Liner, "Merida," and Another Ship Come Together—Passengers Are All Saved.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, May 12.—The Ward line steamer, "Merida," New York to Pro-greso, Yucatan, was struck amidship off Cape Charles, by the "Admiral Farragut," and now lies thirty-five fathoms of water. The "Farragut" is making her way to Norfolk in a damaged condition but with every member of the "Merida's" crew saved. The "Merida" carried one hundred and eighty-seven passengers. The battleship "Towson" and steamer "Hamilton" are conveying the Farragut to Norfolk.

The Merida was due at New York today. She was almost three times as large as the vessel that went her to the bottom. Captain Robertson and his first officer and four seamen, remained aboard the vessel until it sank.
They were then rescued by the steamer Hamilton.

DRINK CRAZED MAN ATTACKS DETECTIVE

Laborer Attempted to Throw Railroad Detector Over Railing of Corridor in Milwaukee City Hall.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, May 12.—Seizing him by the throat, John Meila, a laborer, attempted to throw Albert Eckhardt, a Northwestern railway detective, over the railing in the corridor on the seventh floor of the city hall today when the two were in the district court.
Meila was overpowered and handcuffed. He had been arrested on a charge of drunkenness.

STATION AGENT IS DYING; OFFICE IS LOOTED; NO CLUE

Rudolph Tegan, Employed by St. Paul Road at Browntown Attacked by Unknown Assailant.

Beaten and left insensible on the depot platform, while his assailant calmly robbed the office till, and picked his pockets, Rudolph Tegan, station agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road at Browntown lies at the point of death today while a posse seeks his would-be murderer.

Tegan sleeps in a little room above the station. He had just closed his office for the night at ten last evening and was about to go up the stairs leading to his apartment when he was struck down by a heavy blow on the head, wielded by an unknown assailant. An iron bar was used and while his victim lay in his own blood, the thief calmly looted the station office, stole a valuable gold watch from Tegan's pocket and disappeared into the night.

It was some time before the wounded man regained consciousness and managed to crawl to a nearby saloon where he told his story, and the alarm was sent out. Chief Appleby was told to be on the lookout for the assailant but although a close watch is being kept it is doubtful if he will be captured, as there is no good description of him.

Tegan went to Browntown from Kewaukee, a year ago, and was very popular in the town. He is not known to have had a personal enemy and from the fact the till and ticket box in the station were robbed, lead the local authorities to think it was the work of thugs.

Tegan lapsed into unconsciousness after telling his story last night and at noon today it was thought that he would die.

SECOND CHOICE AT PRIMARY MEASURE GOES TO GOVERNOR

McConnell "Mary Ann" Bill Passed the Senate Today by Vote of 15 to 9
—Adjournment Talk.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, May 12.—The senate, by a vote of fifteen to nine, passed the Mc-Connell "Mary Ann" bill which gives the voters an opportunity to express their second choice at primary elections. The measure, which follows closely the Oregon plan, was one of the big party pledges of the progressive republicans. It now goes to the governor. Senators Whitehead and Gaylord vigorously opposed the measure in speeches.

The democratic resolution in the assembly, calling for the adjournment of the legislature on June 3, was today referred to the revision committee by Speaker Ingram. The resolution made a bitter attack on the republican majority for alleged slow legislative procedure.

The joint committee on legislative procedure today introduced in the senate a resolution providing to cut off all new business on May 18th, and requiring committees to report in all bills or resolutions on or before May 27. This resolution contemplates adjustment early in June. It was laid over for action on Monday or Tuesday and it is thought it will be adjusted.

IMPROVE DECATUR DAM AT BRODHEAD.

Thirty-Five Feet of Cement Work

CLINTON MAN HAD PAINFUL ACCIDENT

William Dardis Caught Two Fingers of Right Hand in Laundry Machinery and Had Them Badly Torn.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Clinton, May 12.—William Dardis,
the laundry man, yesterday morning,
just before noon, had the first and second fingers of his right hand so badly mangled it was necessary to ampu-tate them both. Mr. Dardis was whil-ing some of the machinery with a rag while it was in motion. The rag caught in the gearing and jerked his hand in. The third finger was also badly cut and the bone split and splintered, but Drs. Thomas and Parker thought that they could save it. The accident is a heavy blow to Mr. Dar-dis as he is alone, except for a young lady ironer, and if he can not secure a competent man to run the machinery the work will have to be sent away.

NICHOLS HEADS NEW PARK ASSOCIATION

FORMAL ORGANIZATION WAS EFFECTED AT MEETING LAST EVENING.

BALANCE OF FUNDS

Amount Necessary for Purchase of Old Fair Grounds Will Be Subscribed in a Few Days, It Is Expected.

Formal organization of the Janesville Park association was effected at a meeting of the stockholders of the new amusement park in the assembly room of the city hall last evening. Much enthusiasm over the project was shown and it is thought the necessary funds to complete the purchase of the park can be raised within a few days.

Mayor John C. Nichols was chosen as chairman of the meeting and R. S. Sheldon as secretary. J. L. Cunningham suggested that the election of the directors of the association in open meeting would be the more satisfactory way, but T. S. Nolan declared that this could be saved by selecting a nominating committee. His motion to this effect was carried and Dennis Hayes, N. L. Carle, T. S. Nolan, Frank Douglas and Thomas McKelogue were appointed by Mayor Nichols to act.

While the committee were out to make their selections the mayor spoke on the progress of the plans and said that it was quite a revelation to find the number of business men in the city who had refused to aid the project. C. S. Putnam spoke on the stability of the association, stating that there need be no fear of failure for in case the plans of the association should fail the land could be planted into lots to sell at $100 each, which would net $18,000. The price asked by the owners, $12,000, he said was a bargain, as it was worth that price for use in raising corn.

The committee announced as its nominations for the board of directors, John C. Nichols, Arthur G. Jones, Geo. D. McKee, C. S. Putnam, T. S. Nolan, Walter Taylor, and J. J. Sheridan, and a motion to have a unanimous ballot cast for the nominees was carried.

Speaking of the finances of the association, Mayor Nichols said that while those who had been in charge of the work would like to have all subscriptions paid at once, satisfactory arrangements could be made, where necessary, for partial payment. He said that the stockholders of which the park is a part, would not demand full payment immediately, but terms could be arranged for a cash payment of five thousand dollars and the remainder on time, or other reasonable terms that might be acceptable.

A discussion followed as to the best method of collecting the amounts promised and there was a motion that fifty per cent be collected before May 20, and the rest in sixty days, but Thomas McKelogue suggested that the matter be left to the discretion of the directors and the motion was amended accordingly.

The meeting adjourned and the board of directors met and elected John C. Nichols, president; T. S. Nolan, vice president; C. S. Putnam, secretary and general manager; and R. S. Sheldon, treasurer, as the officers of the association.

The collecting committee will continue their work and endeavor to get the full amount required for the purchase of the park. The stockholders will assist the committee, in that each will try to get one subscription, and those who have subscribed have been requested to turn over the money or as much as possible now, to the treasurer, Mr. Sheldon.

Workmen are now at work at the grounds plowing up the infield. A half mile track will be built and inside this land will be seeded down for a meadow in place of the cornfield, which has been put there before. It is expected that arrangements will be made for auto races at the park some time in July, but the date for the event has not been determined on and the plans are as yet incomplete. The board of directors will meet in a few days and go to the grounds to decide what shall be done with the present buildings.

WISCONSIN COMPANY WILL MAKE CUTOVER AT NOON MONDAY

Final Move in Change of Quarters Will Be Cutting into New Switchboard Monday.

After a year's work and a total expenditure of about $100,000, the Wisconsin Telephone company has completed the change of their headquarters and the cut over to the new switchboard in the building on the corner of Milwaukee and Division streets will take place at noon on Monday, May 15.

The new building containing the modern switchboard is a model of its kind. The fixtures and central office were installed by the Western Electric company under the supervision of Chief Engineer W. R. McGovern and his assistants, P. P. Zukko and E. L. Hanley. Nothing has been spared to make the central office and switchboard the rival of any of the most modern in the country.

By the time the cut over is made at noon, next Monday, the revised directories containing about 1,550 names of subscribers will be out. The work of throwing the connections over from the old switchboard in the building at Main and Milwaukee streets to the office containing the new one, will take but a few minutes, and from that time on a completely up-to-date system will be in full operation. Under the new system there will be no need of ringing the bell to get central and, in fact, such a ring would only hinder matters. As soon as the line is cut over the company will start installing new phones as fast as possible and these will have no bell attachment. Naturally, at first, there may be some trouble encountered and it is the wish

This equipment will also make it easier to clean the flues and will take more of the chinders out of the smoke and prevent, to a large extent, the flying of sparks. This box is the invention of a boilermaker employed by the Northwestern and the patent is held by him. Eight engines at the local shops have been ordered equipped with these and three have already been installed.

Frank Mike, carsmith, has resigned his position at the shops.

Martin Walsh, machinist, has been added to the roundhouse corps.

William Sullivan, painter, resumed his duties at the roundhouse this morning after an illness of about a week.

Edward Taylor, night machinist, has resumed his duties after a short vacation.

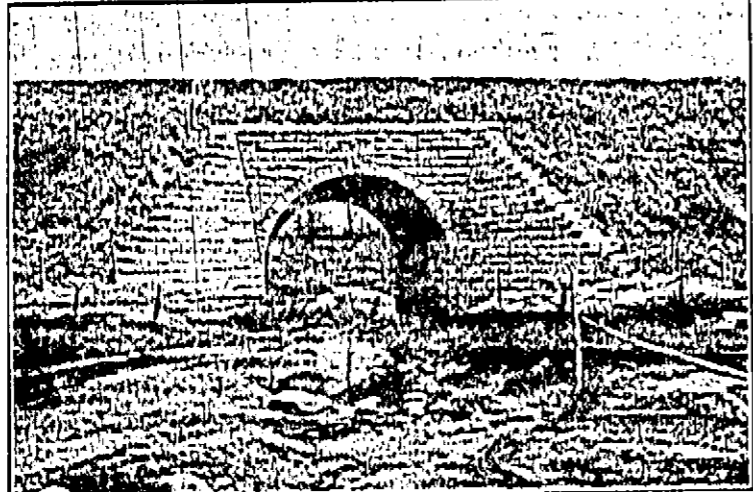

Percy Cadman, machinist, has given up his work at the South Janesville shops to seek work elsewhere.

Engine 799, which is just out of the Chicago shops, has been turned over to the Dakota division from the Wisconsin division.

Engine 745 has been turned over from the Wisconsin division for service on the Madison division.

C. & N. W. Arch Over Three-Mile Creek

One of the masterpieces of railroad construction work in the vicinity of Janesville is the stone arch over the three mile creek, about three miles out of the city on the Evansville cut-off. The arch is thirty-two feet wide and was built to accommodate a double track. The structure was erected by John Welch of this city about seventeen years ago.

There are few small boys in the city who are not acquainted with the location of this arch, for under its cooling shade is a splendid swimming hole.

of the officials that the subscribers will bear with those in charge until the system becomes adjusted, after which time there will be no difficulty. The system which will be used in the future, and under which, central may be obtained by removing the receiver from the hook, is called the central energy or common battery system. It is the one employed in all of the big offices in the country, including New York and Chicago. It is expected that a number of the Milwaukee officials will be in the city on Monday to be present at the time of the cut over.

COMMERCIAL CLUB SMOKER ARRANGED

Committee of Industrial Club Has Selected May 23 As Date for Smoker in Elks' Lodge Rooms.

The committee appointed by Vice-President McNamara of the Industrial and Commercial club to arrange for a smoker for that organization, have selected Tuesday evening, May 23, and the Elk lodge has very kindly loaned their assembly hall or lodge room for the meeting. Every member of the Industrial and Commercial club and everyone interested in Janesville is invited to the expense of the club.

A very interesting program has been prepared, entirely local, and some terse, crisp arguments are looked for which are expected to bring out some points which have not heretofore been touched upon.

It is expected to make the smoker a regular affair each month so that the members may become acquainted with the purpose of the club and to give their ideas so that a greater benefit may be derived.

HAS MESSAGE FOR ALL MEN HE WILL GIVE TUESDAY

Rev. Fayette L. Thompson, D. D., of New York, general secretary of the Methodist Brotherhood, will give an address to men at the Carroll Methodist church on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. All brotherhoods of the city churches are invited to join in this mass meeting. Dr. Thompson has a message to men and all are cordially invited.

THE CARTERCAR "THE CAR AHEAD"

One Lever Control

For ordinary everyday use, summer and winter, year in and year out, the Cartercar is an exceedingly practical car. Because of its simplicity of construction its mechanism can be understood at once. A bright boy can learn to care for and drive a Cartercar in a few days time.

Its parts are not easily injured. In ordinary use they cannot be hurt. In cases of accident, repairs have often been made by an ordinary blacksmith.

Because of this we recommend the Cartercar to anyone who wants a car which will give long service at little cost.

Yale-Penn Boat Race.

Springfield, Mass., May 12.—With the expectation of witnessing one of the greatest aquatic events of the year, hundreds of enthusiasts of the sport came pouring into Springfield today to attend the boat race between the varsity crews of Yale and the University of Pennsylvania, which is to be rowed on the Connecticut River tomorrow. It will be the first time in years that the two varsity crews have met and the first time that the Yale crew has appeared on the Connecticut River since 1877.

The race will be rowed at 4:30 o'clock and will be two mile straightaway. The start will be at the Country Club in West Springfield and the finish at the North End bridge. Robert Horrick, an old Crimson oarsman and chairman of the Harvard rowing committee, will referee the contest. The final practice spins of the two crews were taken today and were witnessed by hundreds of spectators who lined the river banks.

Eyes on Kentucky Derby.

Louisville, Ky., May 12.—The greatest racing event on the Western turf will be decided tomorrow afternoon at Churchill Downs, when the thirty-seventh annual renewal of the classic Kentucky Derby will be decided. The event will mark the opening of the spring meeting of the New Louisville Jockey Club. In view of the discouraging conditions surrounding the sport of kings in most parts of the country the keen interest that is manifested in the Louisville meeting this year and particularly in the Derby is regarded as somewhat remarkable. It is estimated that more than 20,000 people will be on hand to witness the great event tomorrow.

From present indications it is not likely that more than five or six horses will start in the Derby. What the field lacks in quantity, however, will be made up in quality. Round the World, the sensational filly from the South, Governor Gray and Meridian, are regarded as sure starters. Round the World continues a favorite in the betting. The Derby has never been won by a filly, though many have contested for it, and some turfmen are of the opinion that Round the World will weaken under the strain of the mile and a quarter route.

ROCKFORD DEFEATED BY LOCAL DEBATERS HERE LAST EVENING

Affirmative Side of Question of Popular Election of U. S. Senators Won in Debate Last Night.

Rockford last evening met defeat at the hands of the Janesville high school Junior debating team. Until the last rebuttal had been given, Janesville's chances were no better than Rockford's, but when Robert Cunningham, the last speaker of the affirmative, finished his rebuttal, all were sure that Janesville had won. The question debated was: "Resolved, That United States Senators should be elected by the direct vote of the people of the several states". The presiding officer was Arthur M. Fisher, a member of the board of education. The judges were Prof. Crawford of Beloit College, Prof. Robinson of Beloit high school and Mr. Weaver, a student in the department of Public Speaking of the University of Wisconsin.

The debate was opened by Allison Burdick for Janesville who upheld the affirmative. He outlined the arguments which he and his colleagues would set forth. He maintained that (1) the features of the Senate are (2) its small membership as compared with the House of Representatives, (3) the length of terms, (4) the higher age, (5) their representativeness of the entire state, (6) equal representation of each state and (7) the indirect method of election. Of these he proposed to change but one, and that the method of election, by amending the constitution.

The speaker brought out that the results of the present system are deadlocks, bribery and corruption, vacancies in the senate, misrepresentation of the states, corruption of state and local politics, and, lastly, great expense.

Stanley Judd in concluding the debate for the affirmative outlined the features of the Senate. He said the present plan of electing United States Senators has been a failure in practice. That body today is classified as a rich man's club. In the state legislature, deadlocks, or minority rule governs. Bribery and corruption occur, state legislation for the session is greatly hampered. Give the people their privilege to elect senators by popular vote and these evils will be remedied. The United States Senate alone is keeping us from having direct elections, simply because it refuses to trust the people.

Robert Cunningham in finishing the affirmative argument said that the change was not radical, but one for which the people are clamoring. He said that our forefathers knew of their mistakes in the constitution and therefore made way for their correction by amendment. The constitution he said was only a compromise in the first place. The plan of the affirmative was outlined by one of the delegates in the constitutional convention and so it is evident that the affirmative are only setting forth the views of the people. The United States has risen from an aristocratic nation to a democracy and the people justly demand a democratic election of Senators.

The negative speakers, Jules Houghtaling, Morris Shanhouse and George Patrick, conceded a few of the affirmative's statements, but they upheld the point that popular election would substitute greater evils for the present ones. They declared that in the place of deadlocks we would have contests of election and graft would not be eliminated for the statistics of certain districts of voters show that a majority of the voters can be bought. The prices ranging from two to five dollars a head and sometimes even less. It was true, an unpopular candidate would be rejected but the orator, the man of persuasion, no matter what his ability, or his character would have the office. The United States Senate has been initiated in Switzerland, Germany, France and other countries, showing that the present system is approved. Therefore wash the hands with soap and water, not with concentrated lies.

If the election must be changed, why go to the expense of amending the constitution when it can be done in Congress by the amending of the law of 1885 which governs the method of electing senators. Therefore the negative held that popular election of senators was unwise, unnecessary and imprudent.

BELOIT CASE IS ON TRIAL HERE

Trial of Frank Fogell, Charged With Larceny of Tools From Fairbanks-Morse Co., Brought Here on Change of Venue.

Brought here on a change of venue from the Beloit municipal court, the trial of Frank Fogell, charged with the theft of tools from the Fairbanks-Morse Manufacturing company of Beloit, was commenced in municipal court this morning before Judge C. L. Elford. The preliminary examination was conducted in Beloit.

The information filed by District Attorney Stanley Dunwiddie was read by the judge, and Attorney H. W. Adams of Beloit asked that before the plea be made the judge grant a motion to quash the information on the ground that there was an improper joinder of the charges and the complaint was not supported by the evidence in the preliminary examination. Five counts were named in the complaint and Mr. Adams laid particular stress on the charges in the third. Arguments were heard by the judge and the motion was denied, with leave to renew after the testimony on the third count had been heard. Just before noon the work of drawing names for the jury was completed and adjournment taken until half past one o'clock this afternoon. The attorneys this afternoon completed the work of striking the names from the jury list to select twelve to hear the case. The hearing will begin tomorrow morning at nine o'clock and will probably consume two days.

DANGEROUS FIRE WAS NARROWLY AVERTED

Destruction of Frame Buildings Near European Hotel Threatened by Blaze in Sheds This Morning.

Prompt work on the part of the fire department this morning prevented what might have been one of the worst fires this city has seen in years. A pile of burning rubbish in the alley at the rear of the European hotel, set fire to a fence and was communicated to some sheds standing a few feet from the hotel. The wood was dry as a chip and the buildings burst into flames. An alarm was sent into the fire department about eleven o'clock and a three inch hose was used to put out the blaze and sink down the smoldering timbers. Inside of fifteen minutes the flames were completely out and all danger was removed.

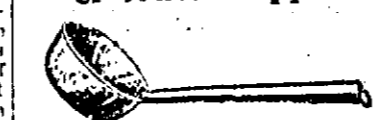

The sheds are situated right in the heart of a number of frame buildings, some of which are old and would easily ignite. A strong wind was blowing and had the flames spread or been allowed to burn a few minutes longer, the hotel and adjoining buildings would have caught. The heat from the fire was intense. In appreciation for what the firemen had done the management of the European Hotel passed out a box of cigars. The three inch hose was used today for the first time in over a year and proved very effective in getting the fire under control.

Bicycle Smashed.

While the fire patrol was on its way to the fire this morning, the wagon struck Thomas Weston, who was riding a bicycle on West Milwaukee street in front of the First National Bank. Weston apparently did not see the horses approaching before he was struck. He was thrown to the pavement and slightly bruised, but otherwise uninjured. The wheels of the wagon passed over the wheel and the rear was smashed.

Good Advice to Teachers.

"Don't in broad generalities, be philosophical, but hide your philosophy so skillfully that you appear as artless as the winds you address. Let your language to smile, noble, magnanimous. Never pride yourself on teaching a great number of things. Rest content to rouse curiosity. Be satisfied with opening your scholars' minds, and do not overload them. Without any interference of yours they will catch fire at the point where they are inflammable."—Anatole France.

PRODUCER AND CONSUMER.

That the products of the country pass through too many hands before reaching the consumer is one of the questions which is just now commanding attention, and strenuous efforts are being made through organization, to remedy the evil.

The story is told of an apple grower, in an eastern state, who placed in the center of a barrel of apples a note which read: "I received 75 cents for this barrel of apples. What did it cost you?" A Chicago consumer bought the fruit, and discovering the note, advised the grower that he paid $1.25.

The apples, of course, passed through the hands of commission men, and were subject to transportation and cold storage charges, but the grower decided that there should be a more direct route to the consumer, and so the Fruit Growers' Association was established.

Another farmer, interested in poultry, placed a similar note inside a dressed turkey, stating that he received 12 cents per pound. The New Yorker, who carved the bird for Thanksgiving dinner, wrote the farmer that he paid 32 cents per pound.

Some of the vegetable growers in the south consigned their products to the eastern market and then followed them, to discover that the consumer paid four times what he received. The grower pays the freight from the south, so that transportation charges are not figured as a part of the cost.

It is not surprising that the producer chafes under those conditions, and seeks, through organization and combination of effort, to dispense with the middle man and reach the consumer direct.

In doing this he is simply following the example of business men and manufacturers, for the mail order house and department store exist to meet the demand to serve the people direct.

The patronage enjoyed by this class of business indicates that there is no sentiment in business, and that people buy goods where they think they can secure the best bargains. That they are frequently deceived does not change conditions, for the tendency of the age is concentration regardless of consequences.

The producer, whether his product comes from the soil, the loom, or the factory, has come to regard the middle man, of whatever class, as more or less of a parasite, and this sentiment exists to so large an extent that many people find it difficult to adjust themselves to changed conditions.

The greatest good to the greatest number is the law which is rapidly gaining recognition, and in many lines of business it is creating revolution. Machinery takes the place of hand labor, and in a decade a small army of skilled workmen disappear to seek other employment. A hardship to the few, but a blessing to the many, and no one steps to sympathize.

This policy is in keeping with the progress of the age, but there never will come a time, in this land, when the ranks of rail producers will be overcrowded.

Wisconsin is slated for an income tax law, but what the provisions are is not known, as the committee is carefully guarding the bill. A measure of so much importance should have the widest publicity before it becomes a law.

The crop outlook is good, in all parts of the country, and with a liberal supply of money the crop of good things should continue. If our crop of lawmakers, both state and national, could be put out of business for the next two years, the people would have a chance to assimilate the reform code already adopted, and adjust themselves to new conditions. The country is suffering from an epidemic of agitation, and a period of depression will follow in spite of good crops, and an abundance of money.

The Pleasure Park association is no longer an experiment, and the men selected to develop it are assured that public sentiment is with them. It is a good thing for any city to have a "breathing" spot, easy of access, and the old fair ground can be made very inviting and attractive.

The Wisconsin legislature is undecided as to whether it will adjourn sine die July 31, or whether the work shall be taken up again next fall, after the corn and pumpkins are husked. The vaudeville performance should be prolonged as long as possible. The people are entitled to all the thrills demanded.

Nothing but death will relieve "Uncle Ike" Stephenson from persecution by the men who are after his scalp. He is accused of everything from being an alien to a grifter.

PRESS COMMENT.

Apply Stated.
Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter: It is a fact and loose game the insurance companies are playing with Canadian reciprocity. They are in favor of the bill, of course, providing—it is changed to meet their peculiar views, well knowing any change would defeat its acceptance by Canada. They can thus oppose a Taft measure while attempting to fool the people that they are in favor of it.

"Xenophobia" Etc.
Oshkosh Northwestern: An official of the Pullman Palace Car company denies that old story about $5,000 salary being paid to some favorite for merely naming new cars. Yet this denial simply increases the mystery of how the company happens to fix on these odd, outlandish names borne by most of its cars.

Catching.
Madison Democrat: The Canadian paper that says, in opposing reciprocity, that Canada is "exposed" to the trade of 30,000,000 people, while the United States is "exposed" in the trade of but 5,000,000 people, seems to regard commerce as something quite as calamitous as the smallpox.

Ready With the Knife.
Fond du Lac: "England also wants a slice or two of reciprocity." All right. The tariff knife has been whetted and ought to be ready to cut her off a big chunk when she says "where and when."

Overworked.
Marquette Eagle Star: Tacoma is having too much of a good thing. The recall business is being worked overtime. They have an election every two or three weeks to recall some official who has not been in office long enough to learn just how to sign the pay roll. They are working their new plowthing to death.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The announcement that the democrats are carefully laying their plans for the 1912 campaign in Wisconsin with Judge Dodge as their leader in the gubernatorial race, will arouse some interest, but it is hardly likely to occasion anxiety at this stage of the game at least.

A Change.
Monroe Times: Mexican investments looked golden a few years ago. But under present circumstances, well under a year ago, money in the old country savings bank with its antiquated folgers and obsolete furniture and single clerk.

Conservation.
Madison State Journal: One effective mode of conserving our forests would be to place a ban on the ordinary walking stick that contributes more than its quota towards making man a nuisance.

No Worry.
Rockford Register Gazette: In these spring days it is well to call a spade a spade, but what are you to call a garden hose when you step on it and the handle hits you in the face?

Sour Grapes.
Monroe Journal: When goods decline for a "career" in preference to marriage, it is not difficult to guess they are not of the peach variety.

And Supreme Joy.
Milwaukee Free Press: Some of the young men who are being educated at the expense of the public at the state university look upon hazel as an indispensable right.

Slightly Deficient.
Monroe Times: "The Mexican army proves to be about as effective in maintaining order as a single policeman in dealing with a bunch of July 4 celebrators."

Uncle Walt
THE POET PHILOSOPHER
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)
By WALT MASON.

Last year, when summer was on the wing, I left the brother town, the weary stretch of pavements and the business gray and brown, and wandered in the leafy woods, far from strife and care, remote from all the carking, scolding, despair. Oh, some may like the roar of wheels, the noise of busy mart, but in the woods I find the peace that soothes a troubled heart. The splendid majesty of trees makes human pomp seem vain; the music of the swaying boughs beats any organ's strain; and every wind that fans your brow and sighs to you of rest, is sweeter than the frankincense of Arab's blood. I wandered in the wondrous woods where nature's hymns are sung, and lost the burden of my years, for all the world seemed young, and all the little griefs and hates, mean thought and ugly word, and every phase of city life seemed idle and absurd. You wash your soul of ugly stains and dirt and kindred evils, when you're communing with the trees, deep in the virgin woods. Yet even there man will intrude, and change your smiles to groans. A Jay policeman ran me in, and taxed me twenty bones.

Little Rock Ready for Veterans.
Little Rock, Ark., May 12.—During the coming week the eyes of all Confederate veterans, their families and friends, will be turned toward this city, where the annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans will hold forth with an attendance that promises to be the largest of recent years. The United Sons of Confederate Veterans and other affiliated organizations will also hold their annual meetings in Little Rock during the week. For several months the local committees have been busy preparing for the welcome and entertainment of the thousands of visitors. The arrangements are now practically complete and are declared to be of the most perfect and elaborate character. Throughout the period of the reunion the city will be decorated and illuminated as never before in her history. Five thousand of the veterans will be accommodated in Camp Kanawha, the tented city that will be erected in City Park. Probably twice that number will be cared for in the hotels and boarding houses of the city. Many private homes will also be thrown open for the entertainment of the visitors.

Making Himself Heard.
Samuel Rogers, the poet, is no doubt a great wit, but he has a turn for malice and even brutality. Some one once asked him why he never opened his mouth except to speak evil of his neighbors. He replied: "I have a very weak voice, and if I did not say malicious things I should never be heard."—Memoirs of the Duchess of Dino.

Road At the Top of Royal Gorge.
Canon City, Colo., May 12.—The new roadway to the top of the Royal Gorge of the Arkansas River, representing three years of arduous labor by an army of workers under the direction of skilled engineers, was formally opened today. The roadway is to form a link in the famous Santa Fe trail speedway, which is being constructed over the line of the early day freighters from Kansas City to Canon City.

The Royal Gorge driveway is eight miles long, extending from Canon City to a point at the top of the Royal Gorge, just above the famous Hanging Bridge, from which a magnificent view is to be had of Pike's Peak, Mount Pisgah, and the Arkansas River. The road was hewn from the solid rock of the mountains and was constructed entirely by convict labor from the State penitentiary in this city.

BURGLAR ROUTER IN SALT LAKE, SON OF FORMER RESIDENTS

Thirteen Year Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Bemis Hero of Robbery Episode in Salt Lake City.

Ralph Bemis, aged thirteen years, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Bemis, former residents of this city, has recently distinguished himself as a young man of unusual courage in the unassisted rout of a burglar at the home of his parents in Salt Lake City. Mr. and Mrs. Bemis were residents of Janesville for a number of years, Mr. Bemis being connected with the Thoroughbred company here. The latter is now engaged in the management of a large department store in Salt Lake City.

Janesville people will be interested to hear the story of the exciting adventure in their home in this west, in which the son took such a courageous part. The following is the account of the affair as given in the Salt Lake Tribune.

Mrs. Bemis, the boy's mother, had gone down town to do some shopping, and he had been her custom on such occasions, had left the key to the house under the front door mat. At noon Ralph came home from the Wausatch school. He found the key in the front door but did not suspect anything.

While eating his lunch in the kitchen he heard a noise upstairs and became satisfied that there was a burglar in the house. Instead of coming frightened and raising an outcry, the boy calmly slipped into the dining room, where he knew that his father's revolver was kept.

The boy braced himself and just as he reached the top step, he ran abruptly into the surprised burglar with his foot. The burglar had his foot, consisting of silverware and other valuables, in a large bag, and was preparing to leave the house when he ran into the youngster. The boy raised his revolver and opened fire. He was cool but his aim was wobbly. The bullet struck the door leading in which it lodged. The burglar dropped his bag of loot and was down the stairs in a couple of jumps. The boy kept in hot pursuit. He fired the second time at the fleeing burglar but his aim was wide and the bullet lodged in the staircase.

Mrs. Bemis returned home shortly after her son's thrilling adventure with the daylight burglar. The youngster told his story well and gave the officers an excellent description of the burglar.

Vogel's Minstrels Gave Good Satisfaction at Myers Last Evening

John W. Vogel's minstrel troupe were greeted by a fair sized house at Myers theatre last evening. Although not ranked as the best in the minstrel line in the country today, the performance was of the most delightful variety and every one of those who witnessed it came away with the feeling that they obtained their money value. The personnel of the cast included some very clever comedians and the "first part" was everything that could be expected. The comedy was up to date and the song hits rendered by some very talented singers.

Blaze On Roof: The department was called to extinguish a small blaze on the roof of the barn of the Janesville Pure Milk Company on Prospect avenue at half past three this afternoon. Sparks from nearby forces was the probable cause. The fire was easily put out by the use of chemicals.

INTERURBAN TIME SCHEDULE CHANGED

Cars Will Leave Janesville On the Hour Beginning Sunday, May 14th—Lay Over in Rockford.

Beginning Sunday, May 14th the Rockford and Interurban cars will leave Janesville on the hour, instead of fifteen minutes past the hour as formerly. The first car will leave here at six o'clock and the last car will depart at eleven o'clock and will run through to Rockford. The incoming cars will reach Janesville at five minutes to the hour and the thirty minute lay-over which was formerly made here will be changed to Rockford.

The cars from both directions will reach Beloit at a quarter to the hour. With this change direct connection will be made with the Prospect division and a close connection with the Belvidere division.

CLUB TO STOCK PICKEREL LAKE WITH TROUT FRY

Ken-O-She-A Hunting Club, in Which Several Local Men Are Interested To Stock Northern Lake. City Treasurer James A. Patheers leaves tonight for Pickerel Lake in the northern part of Wisconsin, where the hunting lodge and preserve of the Ken-O-She-A Hunting Club, in which several local men are interested, is located. These men plan to stock the lake with trout fry and Mr. Patheers is expected to arrive at the lake with the shipment of fry tomorrow night.

NASHSOUTH MAIN STREET STORE BROKEN INTO

Barber Shop and Pool Room of S. A. Warner Entered by Robbers During Night and $250 and Pipe Taken.

Robbers last night broke into the barber shop and pool room of S. A. Warner on South Main street and took two dollars and a half in money and a pipe valued at five dollars. A rear window, facing on the alley, was opened, affording an easy entrance. A nail driven into the sash with a stick placed under it and against the lower sill was used to hold the window shut, but the stick was dislodged by hitting the sash and the window pulled up. A remarkable fact about the robbery is that the robbers overlooked about one hundred dollars in money which had been left in the cash drawer. Officer Sam Dorn was notified of the robbery early this morning and investigated, immediately, but no trace of the robbers could be found. Outside of the money and pipe, nothing else was taken, as far as can be learned.

MR. HAYNER RECEIVES A BEAUTIFUL TOKEN

Insurance Company Sends Silas Hayner Gold Watch Charm After Twenty-five Years Service Here.

Long and faithful service has had its reward in the shape of a beautiful gold watch for presented to Silas Hayner of this city by the Lumberpool and Globe Insurance Company in recognition of the fact that he has been their agent here for the past 25 years. The job is of most artistic design and bears the company's emblem as a decoration which represents the coat of arms of the cities of Liverpool and London, together with the globe.

The company expressed their appreciation of the work of Mr. Hayner during the last quarter of a century very earnestly and the latter was deeply impressed by their token of regard. The letter was signed by Manager W. S. Warren, Assistant G. H. Moore and Deputy Asst. Manager H. R. London.

Called Back.
"A good wife is heaven's greatest gift to man and the fairest gem the earth holds," remarked Mr. Jarphly the other morning. "She is his joy, his inspiration and his very soul. Through her he learns to reach the pure and true, and her loving hands lead him softly over the rough places. She is—" "Jeremiah," said Mrs. Jarphly, solemnly, "Jeremiah, what wickedness have you been up to now?"

Moth Balls and Moles.
Our new lawn was completely ruined by ground moles, and many dollars' worth of bulbs which we set out were eaten. After trying traps and other devices, we were about to give up in despair when a friend told us to push moth balls down into the tracks. These drove them away completely—the odor of the balls permeating the ground.—Woman's Home Companion.

HOUSE ADJOURNED SESSIONS TODAY

Representatives Laid Off Work Today Until Next Thursday or Until Senate Acts on House Measures.
(By United Press.)
Washington, May 12.—The House adjourned this afternoon until noon next Thursday. Many of the members have left for their homes and it is thought that the session will not be called until the senate has taken action on some of the measures sent them for consideration.

DETECTIVE SHOT BY CAR THIEVES

Special Officer for Pere Marquette Railroad Killed at Detroit in Pistol Duel With Four Men.
(By United Press.)
Detroit, Mich., May 12.—In a revolver duel with four car thieves, special officer Clark of the Pere Marquette railway was shot twice through the abdomen early today. He will die.

Wilson Reaches Coast.
Los Angeles, Cal., May 12.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey arrived in Los Angeles today to begin his first tour of the Pacific coast, in the course of which he is to make a number of public speeches that will attract attention in view of the Governor's generally accepted candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination. He will remain in this city three days and will then leave for San Francisco. Later he will visit Portland, Seattle and other cities in the north.

Palentine Grows Best Oranges.
The best oranges on the European market are from the land which is said, yet fetches now the highest price for orange culture. There is a Jewish phrase among Jewish colonists as to Palestinian fertility: "If you but stick an umbrella in the soil you will next year get a crop of them." The orange trees bear fruit two months before those of Italy and Spain.

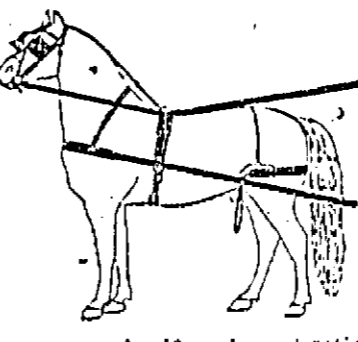

Corrosion in Metals.
Corrosion in metals is said to be prevented by the passage through the metals of a weak current of electricity. This is a "like cure like" treatment, for the pitting of the metals is said to be due to the local electrical action, that is, feeble current developed by the cellular water on dissimilar metals, often impurities in the metal itself, at the point of corrosion.

Conscience and Custom.
The laws of conscience, which we pretend to be derived from nature, proceed from custom.—Montaigne.

MEASURE SEEKS TO AID ALL FARMERS; WANTS STATE AID

WISCONSIN LIVESTOCK BREEDERS ASSOCIATION WOULD INSTITUTE A CAMPAIGN.

THOUSANDS NEEDED

General Opinion Is That This Would Enable the Promoters of the Scheme To Do Good Work.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., May 11.—Unless Wisconsin farmers awake to the growing danger of a waste soil and give more attention to the raising of livestock, and intensive farming generally, a decline in profitable agriculture is inevitable. This is the conclusion of men interested in the plan to get more substantial state aid for the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association, which proposes to institute a campaign to encourage the production of more and better livestock, and, as a corollary, the conservation of the fertility of farm soil.

The association is asking from the legislature an appropriation of $4,000 to be used, according to the bill, according to plans approved by the chief of the animal husbandry department of the university, the secretary of the state board of agriculture, and the president of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association, for the following purposes:

"To encourage and develop the general livestock industry of the state by the collection and dissemination of information emphasizing the peculiar advantage of Wisconsin as a livestock producing state, and its unsurpassed stock, herds and flocks.

"To promote a systematic and efficient educational campaign for the purpose of improving the character and increasing the production of the domestic animals of this state.

"To safeguard purchasers from fraud upon the part of dealers and breeders and generally to protect, perpetuate and improve the livestock industry of Wisconsin.

"To consider and recommend such legislation as may be needed for the proper development and advancement of Wisconsin's livestock industry.

"To facilitate the marketing of livestock."

Intelligent livestock breeding in many individual instances has made fortunes for many Wisconsin farmers, and has placed Wisconsin in the front rank among the states and nations in Waukesha county the occasion condition of many farmers has been revolutionized by the adoption of brain work methods in livestock breeding. Secretary H. W. Rowlands of the state board of agriculture, himself a Waukesha county farmer and a beneficiary of the intensive methods referred to, spoke in highest praise of what has been accomplished thereby. In an interview given today, he said:

"Organized and concerted efforts have done these things for Waukesha county."

"Increased the price of the grade Guernsey cows about 40 per cent.

"Increased the net output of the farms owned by members of the association through milk exclusively about 20 per cent. This was obtained by co-operating to produce a high-class article and insisting on an increase in price. It has been the means of making the county the milk advertising livestock center in America.

"Livestock sales of Guernsey cattle last year totaled over $100,000.

"The association has attained progression in all things pertaining to agriculture. It has made better homes, better houses, better barns, better schoolhouses, has caused the homes to be better furnished and the children to be better educated. It has increased farm values. It has been a great stimulus for sociability, through which lives have been broadened, higher ideals created in both man and woman, boy and girl.

"The high quality of the stock has, as always, excited the admiration of the boy and girl, and with admiration have come contentment and appreciation of the natural beauties, opportunities and pleasures that are so much in evidence on every well-kept prosperous farm home.

"Scientific study of agriculture has been much encouraged and is being emphasized more each day as the benefits are becoming more in evidence through the graduates of our agricultural courses.

"The aim of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association is to increase production on the part of cattle, sheep, swine and horses. It wishes for more and better milk and butter fat, beef, pork, mutton, wool, and pulling power. Three means have been suggested for the promotion of a campaign for better livestock production in this state.

"The first of these is the running of special trains through the state to teach up-to-date, scientific farming and to provide the inspiration without which little can be accomplished. The Iowa State Dairy Association runs dairy trains over the railroads of the state. Three of these enabled about 100,000 farmers to become interested in dairy farming and to acquaint themselves with much information pertaining to more economical and profitable production of milk and butter fat. In each case the railroad officials were more than willing to do all they could. One third of the cows of Iowa are on the Iowa side of the ledger. The dairy train lectures taught the farmers how to feed their cows. They taught them how to use the Babcock test and the scales to tell how many cows are producing butterfat enough to pay their board. Dr. David Roberts, state veterinarian for Wisconsin, told the farmers how to combat the tuberculosis problem. The same farmers are now making big money in dairying, and the dairy train opened their eyes.

"A second proposal is the organization and improvement of livestock exhibits at county fairs, which are maintained by two-thirds of the counties in this state. The association hopes to induce better exhibits of livestock at county fairs if its funds will permit it to take up the work. Opportunity would be possible to give lectures for farmers gathered at fairs. It is a truism that a great many farmers never know why their cattle or swine are not good, and expert lecturers, who furnish this instruction will contribute directly to the upbuilding of the livestock industry and the commercial greatness of the state.

A third means of instruction proposed is demonstrations on farms. These are being carried on at many of the state and county fairs by the state agricultural college, and the livestock breeders' association is desirous of extending the demonstrations to all parts of the state, with recognized authorities on livestock breeding to conduct them.

"The situation in Wisconsin is described thus by one writer on this subject:

"The necessity for conserving and upbuilding the fertility of the soils of Wisconsin farms is well told by a few figures: With a soil that is naturally among the most fertile in the world, we are producing much less than other people produce from lands of a naturally poorer quality and which have much longer been subjected to persistent intensive cropping. For the ten-year period, previous to 1910 Wisconsin farmers produced an average of 10.5 bushels of wheat per acre, the highest average production for any year being 13.5 bushels. In France the production of wheat is 22 bushels per acre. In Germany 35 bushels, in Denmark 39.7 bushels, and in England 39.7 bushels. For the same period Wisconsin farms produced an average of 33.3 bushels of oats per acre the average production of which in France is 35.3 bushels, in Denmark 39.3 bushels, in Germany 59 bushels and in England 49.8 bushels. barley in the same proportion.

"Tiny farms in France have kept, and still are keeping, whole families for years. The same is true of Scotland, where one small house and a small acreage of fugged farm land is all that is needed for a family to live on. What is the source of this wealth? What is the source of this doing on these small holdings? It lies in the fact that they are supporting more livestock per acre than the average Wisconsin farm is asked to support.

"The secret of successful agriculture is intensive farming, that farming which properly conditions grain and livestock growing by means of which they can equal, and even surpass, the production per acre of the European farmer, and by means of which they will not only maintain, but upbuild the fertility of our soil.

"There is a dearth of livestock everywhere in the state. Not 5 per cent of the farms within its boundaries are stocked to their legitimate limit and in the meantime our greatest natural resource continues to be sold off at the city markets without restoration being made therefor.

"What will it avail us and those to follow to conserve all our other natural resources and to build up other large industries if we do not conserve that natural resource from which comes the very energy of life—the fertility of the soil? The necessity for more livestock on our farms must be evident; also the necessity for instituting a most efficient campaign for encouraging our farmers to produce more livestock."

"To encourage and develop the general livestock industry of the state by the collection and dissemination of information emphasizing the peculiar advantage of Wisconsin as a livestock producing state, and its unsurpassed stock, herds and flocks.

EVANSVILLE KNIGHTS IN RECORD CONTEST

Knights of Pythias of Evansville, Make Record For Themselves in Beloit Meeting.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Evansville, May 11.—The second annual meeting of the Southern Wisconsin League of Knights of Pythias of Wisconsin, was held in Beloit Wednesday, May 10. Third rank teams were entered in the contest from Beloit, Broadland, Delavan and Evansville lodges. These contests are held annually in May and a silver cup is awarded to the team scoring the greatest number of points in the third rank work. The points are scored on ritablance accuracy, dramatic action, floor work, appearance, conduct, delivery and enunciation, the object being to perfect the lodges in the third rank work.

Evansville lodge No. 25, Knights of Pythias can well feel proud of the work of her team in this contest. Out of a possible 100 points Evansville scored 130.2; Beloit, 129.7; Delavan, 127.0; and Broadland, 125.8. The members of the Evansville team were Knights Myron Park, F. W. Gilman, R. M. Richmond, Burr Tolles, Chas. Doellittle, J. W. Amos, Ralph Smith, Zola Miller, E. H. Fiedler, Elmer Uphoff, Roy Reckord, C. F. Jorgensen, Paul R. Gray, Henry Gardner, Clyde Fisher, Mr. Paulson and W. W. Blunt.

The Judges were H. E. Wambold, Grand Chancellor of Wisconsin; U. S. Berris, Grand Keeper of Records and Seals of Milwaukee; and Paul Chancellor Commander Stewart of Madison. At the conclusion of the contest Grand Chancellor Wambold, after awarding Evansville the trophy announced that the contest was one of the most remarkable ever held in the state in the point of accuracy. He gave the whistles of the contest having only eight errors scored against them in the entire work.

It is needless to say that the members of the team feel exceedingly jubilant over their success. About twenty Pythian Sisters of Friendship Temple No. 3 of this city accompanied the Knights to Beloit.

The next meeting of the league will be held in this city some time in May, 1912. At the business meeting of the league the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—W. E. Wharry of Beloit. Vice-Pres.—A. J. Wagner, Broadland. Secretary and Treas.—Fred C. Larson, Delavan.

EAT SAUSAGE AND BECOME SERIOUSLY ILL SATURDAY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

South La Prairie, May 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Meale Howard, who have been very ill with pneumonia poisoning, are all confined to their beds. Mr. and Mrs. Howard were in Janesville, Saturday afternoon, and while there they purchased a ring of sausage. After eating a part of the sausage they became so ill that had it not been for the remedies taken before the doctors arrived it would have proved fatal. Their many friends here hope for a speedy recovery.

Work was begun Monday on a new barn on W. T. Hooley's farm. A force of men are rushing the work. Mr. Sholtz of Avalon has the contract for building the barn and Dean and Field for furnishing the lumber.

A quartet from Clinton sang at the services in the M. E. church on Sunday. The music was appreciated by the congregation and the pastor gave them a cordial invitation to come again.

A horse owned by Merle Howard, while grazing in a pasture, Monday, became frightened at an automobile passing on the road, and in jumping the fence broke its neck. The animal was valued at $225.

The social at J. Terwilliger's on Wednesday was a great success, financially and socially. There was a large attendance and all report a good time.

Mrs. Herman Krebs is ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain of Shopton spent Tuesday afternoon at A. Huchcock's.

MAY SECEDE FROM NATIONAL UNION

Tailors Union Which Met in Conference in Philadelphia May Leave United Garment Workers.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Philadelphia, Pa., May 12.—Results of an important and far-reaching character in the world of organized labor may follow the conference begun in this city today by representatives of the tailors' unions throughout the country.

Upon the decisions of the conference depends the question as to whether the tailors shall secede from the United Garment Workers of America, with which organization they are now affiliated, and form a national union of their own which shall be independent of the other garment working crafts. Incidentally, according to gossip that has gained wide circulation, the conference may lead to a general strike of the tailors before the close of the coming summer.

The difference between the tailors and the United Garment Workers are of long standing. These differences were intensified by the strike of the garment workers in Chicago last winter.

It is said that the tailors of the country were almost unanimously in favor of calling a general strike, but the national council of the United Garment Workers would not countenance such a move. The dissatisfied tailors thereupon proposed to withdraw from the parent organization and form what, it is said, will be known as the United Tailors' Association. Whether or not the proposed organization is to become an accomplished fact depends upon the results of the present conference.

Little is actually known as to the strength of the secession movement among the tailors of the country. While many of the local organizations undoubtedly favor the idea of a separate organization, the unions in other cities are said to be distinctly in favor of the United Garment Workers.

According to one report, the declaration of independence of the tailors will be preceded by a demand upon the United Garment Workers that the tailors be allowed to have an organization of their own, and that this organization be given a representation of six members on the general executive board of the United Garment Workers.

The constitution of the United Garment Workers provides that each affiliated organization shall have a proportional representation, based upon the number of organized members. The tailors present will demand that the representation of six members be granted, whether or not they have the requisite number of organized members.

FUNERAL OF LATE EVANSVILLE WOMAN

Last Sad Rites for Mrs. W. H. Briggs Were Held From Her Home Yesterday Afternoon.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Evansville, May 12.—The funeral services for Mrs. W. H. Briggs were held from her home at half past two yesterday afternoon. Rev. Chas. Coon officiated and the music was furnished by Mrs. Ernest Denison with Mrs. Gertrude Eager at the piano. There was a great quantity of beautiful flowers, among them being a number of beautiful pieces from the railroad company and their employees.

The bearers were Messrs. Fred Gillman, Charles Doellittle, Ray Gillman, Ralph Smith, Will Sargent and E. H. Libby, and the remains were tenderly laid at rest in Maple Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Briggs was born on her father's farm near Evansville, Sept. 4, 1871. She was a daughter of Dean and Sarah Johnson. For a time she attended the district school and later became a student at the Evansville high school, and the bearers were chosen from among her former school friends here. She moved with her parents to Elroy, and was there united in marriage to William H. Briggs in September, 1891. Of this union two sons were born—Wayne, who is attending a business college in Janesville, and Carroll, a student at Wayland Academy.

The death of Mrs. Briggs has caused the most profound regret for she was highly esteemed by everyone. She was a loving wife and most devoted mother and lived for her home and those she loved. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the community.

Out of town relatives and friends who were here to attend the funeral were: Mrs. George Pervle of Plainfield, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Van Horn of Waukegan, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rockard of Beloit; Mrs. Mollie Calkins and daughter of Bagley, Wis.; Mrs. Minnie Garmery of Rockford; Mrs. and Mrs. Hiram Nelson, Mrs. Emma Johnson, Miss Winnie Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl and Mrs. Oliver Reese, all of Madison; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Walker of Brooklyn; and Mrs. Ira Fisher of Janesville.

Magnolia Center, May 11.—The remains of Miss Ellen Hutchison were tenderly laid at rest in the east Magnolia cemetery Saturday afternoon.

Rev. E. H. Arnold conducted the ceremony at the grave.

Mrs. O'Sell is improving at this writing.

John Flanagan is doing papering for Mrs. S. Setzer and Mrs. E. G. Setzer. Fred Gardner of Albany, was in town Monday.

Leo Snyder of Center, was a Sunday evening visitor.

Mr. C. Lavozow of Evansville, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lavozow.

Miss Hattie Harnack is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harnack.

A class of nine were adopted by the R. N. A. at the Magnolia hall Tuesday evening. A large number were present from Evansville. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Bruce Townsend of Evansville, spent Sunday at the parental home.

WOMAN'S PAGE

MOTHERS' DAY PROCLAMATION

BY THE GOVERNOR.

In keeping with the practice in other states, in accordance with the sentiment of our people and in harmony with personal feeling, I hereby designate Sunday, May 14, 1911, as Mothers' day.

It is surely a fitting thing to dedicate one day each year to the mothers of the land. Holidays to commemorate heretofore, great national achievements and important calendar events are not uncommon; but now for the first time in Wisconsin the Sabbath day is set aside by proclamation for the noble purpose of celebrating the modest virtues that make true homes.

The observance of the patriotism of Washington and Lincoln fosters patriotism; none the less with the celebration of Mothers' day, develop domestic virtues which are the foundation of good citizenship.

Let the exercises for Mothers' day be so selected and arranged as to emphasize the significance and attractiveness of home life in order that the lesson drawn from them may magnify the most fundamental of human institutions.

In testimony whereof I have signed my hand and caused the great seal of the state of Wisconsin to be affixed. Done at the capital in the city of Madison this eighth day of May, A. D. 1911.

FRANCIS B. McGOVERN,
Governor.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

REMEMBER that when you are right you can afford to keep your temper, and when you are wrong you can't afford to lose it.

"Although she had more than the ordinary woman's provocation to scold, he it said to her eternal honor that she never raised her voice."

I know a woman who ought to have that for an epitaph. And I think it would be an epitaph to be proud of. This woman has four vigorous, healthy mischievous children, two dogs and a very nervous and quick tempered husband in her household, and yet, according to the testimony of all who have visited her, never in the course of her dealings with any of them has she been known to raise her voice to disagreeable heights.

Nor does this mean that this woman is the weak, ineffectual sort of person who simply lies down and lets everybody trample upon her.

On the contrary, her children almost always mind the first time she speaks; the two dogs, one of whom is a setter pup—and if anybody knows anything on earth more thoroughly obedient than that, let him inform me; I don't—obey her as they obey no one else, and the nervous husband is more quickly calmed and rationalized by her voice than by any other influence.

The point is simply this: When the average person gets angry or excited or disturbed, or wants to emphasize demands or demand immediate obedience, he usually raises his voice and in so doing lets off steam just the way the steam engine does when it blows its whistle.

Now this woman, instead of letting off the steam by shouting, keeps all that suppressed energy right back of her own, level tones. The result is that one gets a sense of force from her low spoken words far beyond the impression that any shouting could give.

A man who can make a dog mind without raising his voice—

A mother who can make a child obey without raising her voice—

These are two people who almost always command respect from the impression of reserve force that they give.

I'm not so sure but that this would be a good test for a woman to apply to find out if she has a man or only a dress suit for a lover.

Does he ineffectually shout at the dog whom he would control, or win instant obedience by a low spoken word?

Is he a steam whistle or a steam engine?

TAMMANY HALL.

May 12.—This is the date on which our old friend, the Tammany tiger, first had his stripes adjusted, and as a matter of fact stripes were not used at all, as the first appearance of a Tammany brave was in the guise of an Indian. William Mooney, an upholder for the organization and May 12, 1858 was the date. Mooney said he wanted to form a patriotic society, and if that was his real reason for starting it, it got away from him. As early as 1858 it was up to its neck in politics and carried New York state for Thomas Jefferson. The name of Tammany is taken from an Indian chief named Tammany, a Delaware chief, but in the days of the "Boss" Tweed gang, the Tammany brave had a lion's head, and the decorator of the orange and black, had painted a tiger head as a bit of decoration for the night. Tom Nast the cartoonist was then "doing things" to the gang, and he

New Contest for Women Readers

Tomorrow closes this House-cleaning contest. Be sure and have your article in the Gazette office by Saturday evening, May 13, if you wish to try for one of the prizes.

Of course you have your own ideas of house-cleaning. You know from experience that this dreaded period of the year to the remainder of the family can be made pleasant, or hard, and just how you make it as easy as possible.

You know from experience whether it is best to take up the carpets, full and spring, for a thorough beating, or whether you only do it once a year and trust to good, hard sweepings each week to keep them clean.

There are lots of little things you know about house-cleaning that would be interesting to others. For instance, what is the best method of cleaning the woodwork and windows? Do you believe a hardwood floor should be washed with soap and water? Do you think a patent cleanser makes your windows brighter?

Put all your ideas down on paper and send them to the "Posture Editor" of the Gazette and try for one of the many prizes.

First prize—One dollar.
Second prize—"Silveroid", silver cleaner.
Third prize—Fifty cents.

Fourth prize—A diet not a banquet.

THE CALL OF THE FLOWERS.

At this season of the year city folks who are country bred feel strongly the call of the flowers. The man who spent his childhood and youth in a country village or on the farm, feels, with the first suggestion of spring, the call of the woods and the hedgerows. The woman whose early life was spent far from the city's turmoil and noise feels an irresistible drawing towards nature during the spring months.

But a city dweller who has wandered to the city, cannot return at will to the spots where the violets grow. All who have butted rural simplicity cannot return to the banks where trilliums blow. They must for the most only dream over them things. And this dreaming isn't always satisfying.

What finer thing than can those who have remained in villages or on farms do than to send boxes of wild flowers to these friends in the city. What a delight there is in a box of wild flowers gathered by friends' hands and sent with their message of love and remembrance.

It is easy and inexpensive to send flowers by express or mail. Whatever the choice, they should be picked at night and set in a vase of water until morning. This is to allow the stems to take up as much water as possible, ensuring their keeping fresh until they arrive at their destination. Roses and all hollow stemmed flowers should have the end of the stems covered with damp cotton before the box is closed. A box a little larger than the bouquet should be selected. This keeps the blossoms from being too closely pressed.

If this sort of care is taken flowers can be sent several hundred miles with the certainty of their arriving at their destination fresh. They should be mailed in the morning.

Who can tell what courage and strength such a bouquet may bring to some one who is discouraged and all but hopeless? If they do nothing more than to awaken the sense of kinship they have already paid for the care and expense of sending them.

The boy who went away from home a long time ago to make his fortune in the big city may be at the crisis of his life when a box of these country bred flowers reaches him. They may be the determining factor in his affairs. You can't tell, for even the mightiest of men are turned by trifles. Many a man when he looks into the heart of a rose or of a lily sees there the face of his mother or the sweet heart or wife he loved and still loves. And such a blossom, particularly if it comes from the old home or some familiar hand, speaks a message such as nothing else in all the world can deliver.

Perhaps the flowers reach the woman who long ago bade adieu to the freshness and sweetness of country life to cast her lot in the great metropolis of the city. Soon the glamour has faded and she is face to face with the reality of life. Perhaps the flowers reach her, too, at the moment of crisis. Perhaps they carry their message and as she looks into the heart of the violet she remembers the sweet humility that gives the old life all its quietness and its charm and its lasting qualities.

So don't neglect to send flowers to the boys and girls in the city, particularly the old boys and girls who have fought hard battles. They need their stimulating presence.

Trees on Waste Ground.
Besides the extensive plans for sawing broadcast the seed of native forest trees on the bare patches of the mountains in Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota, government foresters are taking steps to introduce a number of forest trees which it is expected will add appreciably to the verdure of the mountains and will eventually become an asset in the form of timber. As in the case of human immigrants only those foreigners or "exotics" that will make good citizens are to be encouraged. The species involved are Austrian pine, Corsican pine, Scotch pine, Norway spruce and European larch.

Seeing Things to Do.

There are some people who are always seeing little things that they may do for others. Comfort, little attentions that cost little and mean much. To the ordinary plodding mortal who would be glad to do many things; but never see them to do until somebody does them, this art seems a mystery. It is really very simple and one becomes proficient by practice. One of the hardest things we have to do in life and one in which we have acquired little ability, most of us, is the noble art of putting ourself in our neighbor's place, and judging from his standpoint.

The practice of this gentle art makes us sensitive to times and seasons, tactful and offering attentions and generous in putting ourselves in the background. In travelling one sees more human nature in a week than we do among our acquaintances in a year, for even nice people, are thinking of themselves too much and too little of the comfort of others. One may endure the slights of strangers, and the selfishness shown by them, but in the intimate relationship of home life, thoughtfulness for others will make or mar the happiness of a life.

Household Hints.

When any baked mixture has large holes in it, making it coarse grained, too much baking powder has been used. Many people consider the sifting of flour several times to be a great task, but with two pieces of manilla paper one may sift it in a few turns of the wrist. As one of the secrets of success in cake making is the flour sifting, but that process be done well, for whatever is used to lighten the mixture must be well blended in order to do its work.

The creaming of the butter, adding the sugar a little at a time is another important point. Then the cutting and folding in of the beaten whites just at the last, and increasing the heat in baking. Never decrease it.

THE LATEST SPRING FASHIONS OF MODISH PARISIENNES.

Sweet simplicity and gorgeous garb, or a blending of both, distinguish women's spring wear among the Paris fashionables. The above photographs of typical styles were recently taken at the Longchamps and Auteuil race tracks, where models and ultra-fashionables alike congregate for the purpose of exhibiting the prevailing fashions. One of the pictures shows a broadcloth skirt and jacket, loosely comfortable and cut on severely simple lines. The toque is in keeping with the costume. In another picture, the material is black satin, the article draping of the dress as a whole being characteristically Parisian. The third picture shows a gown of pongee heavily trimmed with lace and having an Empire waist effect. The sleeves are short and lace-trimmed also. The skirt, unlike the other two described, is hobbled by a broad band of ribbon.

PHOSPHORUS AND BRAIN POWER.

A French chemist who has analyzed the brains of different individuals has found that those of idiots and other mentally deficient persons are always deficient in phosphorus, while those of the greatest mental power contain most phosphorus. The brain of the average adult man contains nearly two pounds of phosphorus. Yet half an ounce of unorganized phosphorus will cause delirium and an ounce will cause death. Sea food contains a large percentage of phosphorus, but fish is not a superior brain food. Milk, cereals, nuts and beans are the best supply of phosphorus. The brain is rich in phosphorus in a form easily assimilated when eaten in its natural state. Beans are also rich in phosphorus—which perhaps accounts for the proverbial superior intellectual capacity of the people of Boston.

Beneath the summer skies we two
Went gaily forth as lovers do,
And in a bed of clover there,
With sunlight glinting on her hair,
She stopped, a sudden fancy, mind,
A magic clover leaf to find!

But though she looked with passion there
She found no four-leaved clover there!
"Alas! My luck is bad!" sighed she,
Her worried face turned up to me,
And then she blushed with rosy glow,
And laughing said: "It isn't, though!"

Nut Cake

Simply Delicious!

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

In giving this recipe, Mrs. Hill believes it to be one of the best all-around cake recipes it has been her good fortune to make. The simplicity and uniformly good results will appeal to every housewife.

One-half cup butter; 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar; 3/4 cup milk; 2 cups flour; 2 level teaspoons K. C. Baking Powder; 1 cup of nut meats chopped fine; whites of 4 eggs, beaten dry.

Sift flour and baking powder together three times. Cream the butter, add the sugar; then alternately, the milk and the flour mixture; lastly the whites of eggs and the nut meats. Bake forty minutes in a shallow pan thirty or forty minutes. When cold cover with the icing and decorate with whole nut meats. This is also an excellent white cake recipe when nutmeats omitted.

Chocolate Icing.
One cup granulated sugar; 1 ounce chocolate, white of 1 egg, beaten dry; 1/2 teaspoonful vanilla extract; 1/4 cup water.

Sift the sugar, chocolate and water until the mixture boils over and let boil three minutes. Uncover and let boil till when tested in cold water a soft ball may be formed; beat into the white of egg, then beat until cold, add vanilla. The nut cake frosting given on page forty of the K. C. Cook's Book may be used in place of the chocolate frosting. If desired, a copy of the Cook's Book, handsomely illustrated in 9 colors, will be mailed free, if you will send the colored certificate packed in 25-cent cans of K. C. Baking Powder to the Jacobs Bros., Co., Chicago.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—No, Father will not make the young widow's acquaintance tonight.

(Copyright, A. C. McClurg & Co., 1910.)

Keith could hear the beating of his own heart in the silence that followed. Here was a new thought, a new understanding, a complete new turn to affairs. Christie Macleaire, then, was not Willoughby's sister Hope. The girl he rescued on the desert—the girl with the pleading brown eyes, and the soft blur of the South on her lips—was not the insular hall singer. He could hardly grasp the truth at first, it antagonized so sharply with all he had previously believed. Yet, if this were true his own duty became clearer than ever; aye, and would be more willingly performed. But what did Hawley know? Did he already realize that the girl he had first met on the stage coach, and later, investigated into the desert, was Hope, and not the music hall artist? He, of course, fully believed her to be Christie Macleaire at that time, but something might have occurred since to change that belief. Anyhow, the man was not now seeking Hope, but the other. Apparently the latter was either already here in Sheridan or expected soon. And exactly what was it the gambler desired this Macleaire woman to do? This was the important matter, and for its solution Keith possessed merely a few hints, a few vague suggestions. She was expected to represent herself as Phyllis—Phyllis who? Some Phyllis surely whose physical resemblance to Hope must be sufficiently marked to be at once noticeable. Willoughby had evidently revealed to Hawley some hidden family secret, having money involved, no doubt, and in which the discovery of this mysterious Phyllis figured. She might, perhaps, be a sister, or half-sister, who had disappeared, and remained ignorant as to any inheritance. Hope's picture shown by the boy, and reminding Macleaire, had been the basis of the whole plot. Exactly what the details of that plot might be Keith could not figure out, but one thing was reasonably certain—it was proposed to defraud Hope. And who in the very truth was Hope? It suddenly occurred to him as a remarkably strange fact that he possessed not the slightest link as to the girl's name. Her brother had assumed to be called Willoughby when he enlisted in the army, and his companions continued to call him this. If he could interview the girl now for only five minutes he should be able probably to straighten out the whole intricate tangle. But where was she? Would she have remained until this time at Fort Larned with Kate Murphy?

"There was a noise of movement in the next room. Apparently as Hawley arose carelessly from his edge of the washstand he had dislodged the glass, which fell shivering on the floor. Scott swore audibly at the loss.

"Shut up, Bill," snapped the gambler, irritated, "you've got the bottle left. I'm going; there's nothing for any of us to do now, until after I see Christie. You remain here! Do you understand?—remain here! Damn me, if that drunken fool isn't waking up."

There was a rattling of the rickety bed, and then the sound of Willoughby's voice, thick with liquor.

"Almighty glad to see you, Bart—am, indeed. Want money—Bill ain't I both want money—can't drink without money—when you got it, wake up."

"I'll see you again in the morning, Fred," returned the other briefly, "do on back to sleep."

"Will when I get good an' ready—go sleep, stay awake, just as I please—don't care damn what yer do—got new frion' now."

"A new friend? Who?" Hawley spoke with aroused interest.

"Oh, he's all right—he's mighty fine fellow—come in without an invitation—called her Hope—you fool, Bart, Hawley, think my sister Christie—Christie—dandling the name—my sister, Hope—don't want yer money—my new frion', he'll make me—he knows my sister—Hope."

The gambler grasped the speaker,

If he could interview the girl now for only five minutes he should be able probably to straighten out the whole intricate tangle. But where was she? Would she have remained until this time at Fort Larned with Kate Murphy?"

would be of no special interest.

Mrs. Murphy, hoping thus to quiet the apprehensions of her charge, set herself diligently at work to discover the facts. As her house was filled with transients, including occasional visitors from Carson City, and was also lounging headquarters for many of the officers from the nearby fort, she experienced no difficulty in picking up all the floating rumors. Out of these, with Irish shrewdness, she soon managed to patch together a consistent fabric of fact.

"Shure, honey, it's not so bad the way they tell it now," she explained, consoling. "Nobody believes now it was yer father that got kilt. It was two fellers what stole his outfit, clothes an' all, an' was drivin' off wid 'em inter the sand hills. Divil a wan does know who kilt 'em, but there's some ugly stories travelin' about. Some says Injuns; some says the posse run 'em down; an' Black Bart an' his dirty outfit, they swear it was Keith. Ol' ye got me own notion. Anyhow, there's 'bout three hundred dollars, some mules, an' a lot o' valuable papers mislaid."

"But if it wasn't father, where is he now?"

"That's what Ol' ye been tryin' to find out. First off he went out to the Cimmaron Crossing, guarded by a squad o' cavalry from the fort here. Tommy Caine went along, an' told me all about it. They dug up the bodies, but niver a thing did they find on 'em—not a paper, nor a dollar. They'd bin robbed all right. The owd General swore like a wild man all the way back, Tommy said, an' the first thing he did at Carson City was to start huntin' fer 'Black Bart'. He was two days gittin' on the trail an' him; then he heard the feller was gone away trapin' after a slinger or dancin' gurl called Christie Macleaire. She was supposed to be at either at Topeka or Sheridan. A frankster told the owd man she was at Sheridan, an' so he started there overland, hopin' ter head off 'Black Bart'. Ol' reckon we could a towid more'n that."

"What do you mean?"

"Why shure, honey, what's the use tryin' ter deceive me? Didn't Jack Keith, wid his own lips, tell me ye was Christie Macleaire?"

"But I'm not! I'm not, Mrs. Murphy, I don't even know the woman. It is such a strange thing; I cannot account for it—both these men mistook me for her, and—let them. I didn't care who the man Hawley supposed me to be, but I intended to have told Mr. Keith he was mistaken. I don't know why I didn't, only I supposed he finally understood. But I want you to believe, Mrs. Murphy—I am Hope Waite, and not Christie Macleaire."

"It's little the loss to ye not ter be her, an' Ol' in thinkin' likely Jack Keith will be mighty well pleased ter know the truth. What's 'Black Bart' so agyer ter git hold av this Macleaire gurl fer?"

"I do not in the least know, He must have induced me to go to that place in the desert believing me to be the other woman. Yet he said nothing of any purpose; indeed, he found no opportunity."

Mrs. Murphy shook her head disparagingly.

"It was shure some divilment," she asserted, stoutly, "He'll be up to some trick wid the poor gurl; Ol' know the folks av him. Shure, the two av yer must look as much alike as two paves in a pod. Lolkely now, it's a twin sister ye've got!"

Hope smiled, although her eyes were misty.

"Oh, no; Fred and I were the only children; but what shall I do? What ought I to do?"

"The Irish mouth of Kate Murphy set firmly, her blue eyes burning.

"It's not shure Ol' am an' avisin'," she said, shortly, "but if it was me Ol'd be fer findin' out what all this out-put was about. There's somethin' mighty queer in it. It's my notion that Hawley's got hold av thin papers av yer father's. The owd gint thinks so, too, an' that's why he's so hot atter catchin' him. May the divil admoire me av Ol' know where this Macleaire gurl comes in, but Ol' in bet the black divil has get her marked fer some part in the play. What would Ol' do? Be goory, Ol'd go to Sheridan, an' foin'd the General, an' all him all I knew. Maybe he could piece it together, an' guess what Hawley was up ter."

Hope was already upon her feet, her puzzled face brightening.

"Oh, that is what I wanted to do, but I was not sure it would be best. How can I get there from here?"

Isaiah's Vision and Call to Service.

(Home Missionary Lesson.) Isa. vi.

Golden text—I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, here am I, send me. Isa. vi:8.

(1.) Verses 1-4—Why did God give this vision to Isaiah?

(2.) Do you think that any such vision needs repeating? Why?

(3.) When we have any special Divine illumination what is the advantage of connecting it with some event, or putting down the date, as Isaiah seems to have done?

(4.) Did Isaiah or anybody else ever see with the outward eyes, the actual eternal God, and will He ever be so seen?

(5.) Is there any reason to think that Seraphim, or angels, are to be seen everywhere in the universe, if we had the media through which to see them?

(6.) Verse 5—How was it that the sight of the Lord made Isaiah conscious of his sinfulness?

(7.) What if any reason is there to conclude that the use of coarse slang, or profanity, proves the user to be an impure man?

(8.) Which is the more effectual way to reveal to sinners their guilt, to correct them with words, or to live pure lives before them? Why?

(9.) What effect does the teaching of the spotless purity of Jesus have, upon sinful men?

(10.) Verses 6-7—What is God's attitude to sinners who are conscious of, and loathe themselves because of their sin?

(11.) What is the "live coal," with which the Seraphim touched the lips of Isaiah, emblematic of?

(12.) What actually transpires in a man's spiritual nature, when he comes to God for the pardon of his sins?

(13.) What reason is there to think that angels, or spirits, have anything to do with the salvation, or the spiritual comfort of men and women to-day?

(14.) Verse 8—What class of men and women does God need, and call to be missionaries?

(15.) What are the indications that God is calling to-day, with a loud voice, for missionaries? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(16.) Is it possible for any person to be in harmony with God who is not willing to be a missionary, or to support a missionary, if the Lord should so demand?

(17.) What reasons are there to conclude that it is the duty of pastors in these days, to look out for suitable young men, and call them to missionary work?

(18.) Verses 9-10—The prophet was being sent to a people familiar with God's message, and hardened in sin: what is generally the doom of such people?

(19.) What is the use of continuing to preach to a gospel hardened people?

(20.) When sinners hear the call of God to repentance, and heed it not, what change takes place in them for better or worse?

(21.) Verses 11-13—It is very trying to preach without results, but is there anything in this story to indicate that in time, a faithful servant of God will surely cause some to hear and turn to the Lord?

Practical Criticism.

The following is a criticism of "Hamlet" by a genius in New South Wales: "There is too much chinning in the piece. The author is behind the times, and appears to forget that what we want nowadays is hair-raising situations and detectives. In the hands of a skillful playwright a detective would have been put upon the track of Hamlet's uncle, and the old man would have been hunted down in a manner that would have excited the audience out of their number eleven. The moral of the piece is not good. The scene where Hamlet checks his mother is a very bad example to the rising generation. Our advice to the author is a little more action, a little more fine sentiment, and a fair share of variety business in his next piece. In the specialty arts of the play scene he has entirely missed his opportunity."

"The Rosary."
Whatever else may be said of Gaskell and MacVitty's new production, "The Rosary," which comes to the Myers Theatre Saturday, May 13th, matinee and evening, the charge of imitation of other plays, cannot be made. "The Rosary" has just finished its three months' run in Chicago, two months in New York City, and it is now crowding the Globe Theatre, Boston, where it is predicted it will run a year.

The play virtually breaks new ground in the dramatic field and should prove a veritable surprise when the curtain rises upon it.

It is built upon a thoroughly modern theme, viz: the influence of thought upon the lives and well being of the men and women of our present day.

It deals with the lives and fortunes of a little group of people living in the beautiful West Chester country near New York City. The husband is a disbeliever in all religion; his wife, a woman of serious convictions regarding faith in the things of life unseen. Strong in his belief and thoroughly human, a priest moves through the subtle story of this play. When doubts come and the man and woman's lives are shattered, seemingly beyond the human power to repair, this priest analyzes the situation and by the power of his faith brings both the people whom he loves back to happiness.

maturity. He showed consummate taste in his choice of selections and they gave him opportunity for the display of his dazzling technique, which is backed by an emotional temperament and a keen insight into the poetic subtleties of everything he interprets. In the Wronski Concerto, he played the three movements with a tone of beautiful quality while he seemed to command every secret of delicate shading, his harmonies being of superlative purity. The storm of applause which followed and continued until he had to return several times to bow his acknowledgments was a spontaneous expression of the delight of his audience. The "Ave Maria" by Schubert-Wilhelm, was an exquisite performance while in the introduction and Rondo Capriccioso by Saint-Saens, which bristles with technical difficulties, the young artist achieved a triumph and was obliged to play an extra number. In his last group, "The Wild Rose," by Macmillan, the Mozart Minuet and the Mosaic Fantasia, G. string alone, by Paganini, were all superb, the latter being tremendously compelling and the uproarious applause which followed, brought Mr. Macmillan back to play as an encore Liszt's "Humoresque," which has never been played as well in Janesville by any other violinist. Macmillan will give one concert at Myers Theatre, Tuesday evening, May 16.
